

SKIRTING the ISSUE

The onslaught of the midi and even longer fashions for fall and winter brought these reactions from New Yorkers on fashionable Fifth Avenue. Self-conscious tugs on unyielding mini-skirts, left, were followed by puzzlement and even apparent disbelief or dismay on behalf of some.

These Bonwit Teller display windows include designs by Bill Blass, Pauline Trigere, Oscar de la Renta, Donald Brooks, Geoffrey Beene and others. Hemlines described as having a swing to fullness fall to the knees or far below.

Almost every major store in town has loaded up at length on length with serious intentions of committing mini murder. Such an act at first glance seemed an undesirable if not impossible goal to men and women alike who had taken to the mini style.

The fall of the hemline, however, has brought the return of a certain elegant mystery surrounding what had been so obvious for this short period.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Debunking Some Common Health Superstitions

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Superstitions regarding health and medicine are hardly perennials. They die hard, but for every one that dies, three or four spring up to take its place. Here are a few that are still around in varying stages of vigor:

- Certain foods, such as fish and celery, are brain food. False—Your brain depends on a good circulation of blood rather than any certain type of food for perfect functioning.
- Persons who are allergic to dogs won't be bothered by a short-haired dog. False—Asthma is caused by animal dander, not by hair.
- To be healthy, you must have a bowel movement every day. False—The interval is not important. Adjust your intake of roughage so that your stools are firm. Most people feel best when they are slightly constipated.
- Vitamin supplements are necessary for energy. False—Most people get all the vitamins they need in their diet. Vitamin supplements are necessary only for those who can't take a balanced diet. The proteins, carbohydrates and fats in your diet supply the energy.
- If a little of an effective drug is good, more is better. False—For example, the standard adult dose of aspirin is one five-grain tablet.
- Plants in a sick room or bedroom will use up all the oxygen. False—Plants absorb more carbon dioxide than oxygen and give off more oxygen than carbon dioxide—just the reverse of animals.
- For every disease there must be a curative drug. False—Many diseases can be controlled but not cured; others can be cured only by changing your habits or by surgery and others can't be cured at all.

These are just a few of the myths people cling to.

Q—What is Bant's disease?
A—This is a form of anemia that is associated with enlargement of the spleen. In some victims, there is bleeding into the stomach, followed by vomiting. Others complain of piles or a heaviness in the abdomen. Removal of the spleen used to be the standard treatment, but in recent years this has largely been replaced by an operation on the abdominal blood vessels called a portocaval shunt.

Q—What is Optilet-M given for? Will it cause hair to grow on my face?
A—This multivitamin with minerals is given to persons who can't take a balanced diet. It will not cause the growth of unwanted hair.

Among the many remarkable animals found in the Land of Oz is the Iffin. He seems to have left Oz and come to the United States to play bridge. He sat West today and as soon as South raked up game and rubber, he was heard telling his partner, "If'n you'da bid hearts or clubs, we could have saved the rubber quite cheaply at the five level."

East replied, "Look here Mr. Iffin. If'n you had doubled instead of bidding two diamonds I would have bid both my suits. I couldn't get into the act with a singleton in the suit you did bid."

We aren't going to get involved in the question of the proper bid by West over the spade opening because his choice was a matter of style. This time the double would have worked. Next time it might not.

We do want to discuss the play because a slightly careless play by declarer would have lost the game and rubber.

West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the queen. South reached for dummy's king of diamonds but stopped at the last moment and played low. After that it was all over but the shouting.

West led another diamond. South played low from dummy once more and ruffed in his hand. Then he drew trumps and led a club. East scored his ace but that was all. South was able to ruff

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

THEY KOOK UP REFORM

Dear Helen:

I don't like the lippy libs any better than do other gals who enjoy being feminine, but I have to admit they got action where we female creatures got nowhere. In a year, they've influenced several states to liberalize laws that liberate women, and they also got Congress to pass the equal rights amendment which has been hanging fire for almost 50 years.

Their kookiness brought attention to "second class women." They may yet get us equal pay and equal jobs.

Isn't it kind of sad, Helen, that it takes the nuts to wake people up to injustice? I believe it was in your column I read that, if it hadn't been for the wild-eyed "bloomer girls," women might not have got the vote, for men pay no attention to sweet, quiet petitions.

Maybe the marchers and braless chest-beaters and "Down with Men" gals aren't really that militant at heart. Maybe they're just putting on a big act, like the clowns do to bring a crowd into the circus.

Anyway, while they're not my dish of tea, I thank Women's Lib. Perhaps I'll have a better paying, more interesting job some day because the nuttier members made people notice us as humans. — A GAL WHO WANTS IT BOTH WAYS

Dear Gal:

You're so right! It takes the kooks to bring things to a boil. Besides, they keep life from going stale—and, who knows, today's kook may be tomorrow's prophet. Remember the bloomer girls! —H.

Dear Helen:

I love my dad but he treats me like trash. Before his new wife moved in I was his baby, but now I'm a speck of dust.

I get blamed for everything. He twists my words around so it sounds like I'm sassing him, and then he spanks me and throws me into my room. Before that woman came, he never beat me. Only once before was I treated like this and that was when his second wife (not my mother) moved in. After the divorce everything was fine, till now. Please help. —WORRIED

Dear Worried:

I don't know the situation well enough to judge, but tell me, are you really trying to get along with your step-mother? It would appear you are only happy when your father doesn't divide his affection.

Is there any chance that you

Dolphins' Preseason Record: 4-0

By HUBERT MIZELL

Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — As far as quarterback Bob Griese is concerned, the Miami Dolphins' shocking 4-0 preseason record is simply "reverting to form."

Make no mistake about it, the National Football League's southernmost team has never been a successful outfit. What Griese meant was, "We all won as individuals in college, so we know the feeling."

Miami and new coach Don Shula thumped the Baltimore Colts, Shula's former team, last weekend. Competition has increased and the Dolphins have moved it ... from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati to San Francisco to Baltimore.

"We had just adjusted to the feeling of winning three straight," smiled Griese, a rare introverted quarterback. "And, all of a sudden, we're 4-0. I love it."

Griese has spent four seasons in a Dolphin uniform, much of it on the seat of his pants. After records of 4-10, 5-8-1 and 3-10-1, he "enjoys being rolling again, the way it was when I played at Purdue."

Griese says the Miami veterans "can now recall how terrible it felt to lose all those games. It hurt then and it hurts to think back."

Shula posted a hot 71-23-4 record in seven years with the Colts and his coaching magic has spread to the Dolphins, losers since their birth as a 1966 expansion club.

"Any success we have is due to Coach Shula and his staff," said Griese. "Many of the faces are the same as last year, but we are playing better."

Norm Evans has been a regular at offensive tackle throughout the Dolphins' history. "I have been doing two or three things wrong time after time," he said. "Monte Clark, our line coach, straightened me out. It's happened all up and down the line. We are a different team now."

Griese has completed 38-of-54 passes so far without an interception. He has a blazing new target in Paul Warfield, obtained in an off-season trade with Cleveland.

Running back Larry Csonka trimmed 15 pounds—down to 235—and is "running the best of his career," according to Shula. Jim Kiick gained 74 yards against the Colts for his finest preseason showing.

"Defense has been a key for us," Shula points out. "We have much youth back there in the secondary. You have to be proud of their accomplishments so far. They make mistakes but make up for it with hard work and great hitting."

The Dolphins have often used five rookies among seven secondary players. First-year men Tim Foley of Purdue and Curtis Johnson of Toledo have been capable at cornerbacks, rookie Jake Scott has been sensational at times at free safety and linebackers Mike Kolen from Auburn and Doug Swift from Amherst have apparently beaten out seven veterans for starting spots alongside standout middle man Nick Buoniconti.

Minnesota 4-0 Over California

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The California management waited an extra 15 minutes until all the fans got to their seats before starting the game. But once it began, Minnesota's Brant Alvea didn't wait very long to do in the Angels.

With two out and two on in the first inning, Alvea drove a first pitch from Rudy May over the left field fence for his 13th home run and the Twins went on to a 4-0 victory that opened up a four-game lead over the second-place Angels in the American League West.

Alvea's homer which gave him eight runs batted in in only 14 at-bats against Angel pitching this year was enough to back the combined pitching of Bert Blyleven and Ron Perranoski who gave a California crowd of 38,199 little to cheer about.

Oakland blanked Kansas City 5-0, Baltimore outlasted Boston 8-6, New York nipped Cleveland 3-2, Detroit took Washington 6-3 and Milwaukee edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings in other AL games.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 7-4, San Diego blasted Cincinnati 15-2, Houston topped Los Angeles 7-3 and Montreal shaded St. Louis 9-7 in 13 innings. Pittsburgh was leading Philadelphia 4-1 in the seventh inning when the game at Pittsburgh was suspended because of trouble with the mechanical tarpaulin. San Francisco at Atlanta was rained out.

The 19-year-old Blyleven, who lives in Anaheim retired the first 11 men he faced and had a two-hitter until he ran into trouble in the sixth. With one out, Tony Gonzales singled, Jim Fregosi walked and Alex Johnson beat out an infield hit to load the bases.

But Perranoski then came in to strike out pinch-hitter Billy Cowan and get Tommy Reynolds on a force play.

Tony Oliva rapped four straight hits for the Twins.

Don Mincher and Gene Tenace clouted homers and Jim Hunter, 16-12, pitched a five-hitter as Oakland beat Kansas City for its sixth straight victory to remain six games behind the Twins. It was Hunter's ninth try for his 16th victory. He had last won on July 30.

Brooks Robinson slammed five straight hits, including a solo homer and a three-run shot to key Baltimore's victory over Boston. Tony Conigliaro hit his second grand slam in four days, his 28th homer of the season, in the first when Boston chased Mike Cuellar, Baltimore's 21-game winner.

Cats Downed 28-14 by Ashdown

By Bill Moore

Star Sports Writer

After showing their determination and pride, coming back from a 14-0 deficit, the Hope Bobcats lost a 28-14 heartbreaker to Ashdown on key mistakes.

The Bobcats now are 0-1 on the season and will play at Prescott on September 11.

Neither team could do much for the first few minutes, but on Ashdown's second possession of the game, the Panthers ground out chunks of yardage and highlighted a 52 yard drive, when Louis Terry ran the pigskin over the goal from one yard out, with 3:50 left in the first period.

For the next eleven minutes both teams traded field position with Hope getting as close as the Ashdown 27.

With only 20 seconds left in the half quarterback Mike Carroll threw a 13 yard pass to Jimmy Eskew, who then ran behind his blockers into the end zone. A penalty appeared to nullify the TD, but after a mysterious delay, Ashdown led 14-0 at the half.

As the second half began, the Bobcats seemed renewed and showed just that as they highlighted a 65 yard drive with a screen pass to Ray Wheelington, who behind his blockers hurtled into the end zone with 5:51 left in third quarter. The PAT was no good.

Now trailing 14-6, the Bobcat defense began to stave off Panther attacks and with 10:05 left in the game, the Bobcats were sitting on their own 44 yard line. Repeated slashes into the line by fullback Steve Haltom and quarterback Ronnie Massanelli set Hope up to a fourth down and two YARDS to go on the Ashdown six.

Massanelli elected to pass and a six yard floater to Gary Wheelington with 7:13 left, trimmed the lead to two points. The extra point try worked this time with Massanelli turning the end on a keeper to knott the score at 14-11.

The Cats seemed ready to win, but fate came and on large pass gains Ashdown had scored again in about two minutes; this time on five yard run by Louis Teasy again.

Hope took the kickoff and could do nothing, before a Massanelli pass was intercepted by Bobby Guthrie at the three yard line, with a quarterback sneak bringing yet another score.

Down now 28-14 with not much time the Cats still fought down to the Panther 15 yard line before Massanelli was taken out after being hurt with 2:30 left.

The final play saw quarterback Tommy Frazier hit Roger Newton with an eleven yard pass to the four yard line.

President of Mexico Sounds a Warning

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
CORONADO, Calif. (AP) —

speaking at a gala state dinner tendered by President Nixon, President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico has sounded a warning that U.S. restrictions on international trade may imperil the economy of Latin America. It was the one somber note at a gathering of 600 VIP guests from both sides of the border Thursday night devoted mainly to lavish expressions of Mexican-American friendship.

Nixon capped a day-long salute to the visiting chief of state by describing Mexico as "the country we have a special place for in our hearts."

Nixon staged the glittering show for Diaz Ordaz at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style Hotel del Coronado just two weeks after reaching a border boundary agreement with the Mexican president in the below-the-border resort town of Puerto Vallarta.

Guests included former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and headliners of the U.S. sports and entertainment world. In his speech, Diaz Ordaz said he brought "solidarity and affection from the people of Mexico," but had this message of caution:

"There is true alarm in the countries of Latin America because in the United States protectionist tendencies seem to be gaining strength."

"Should they prevail, there will be a tremendous blow to the economy of the rest of the continent."

He apologized a bit for injecting the serious note after the light-hearted toasts which went before, but said he had to make his serious prepared speech because he had already given it out to the news media.

He was warm in his appreciation of the way "the people opened their hearts" in the gaily decorated city here and he thanked the Johnsons, too, for coming all the way from Texas to have dinner with him.

Nixon has frequently noted that he and his wife, Pat, honeymooned in Mexico, and Diaz Ordaz said he hopes it's a custom that continues.

He suggested that all young men who aspire to political careers take their honeymoons in Mexico, "because perhaps it will help them reach the presidency."

He added, "It will help us as far as tourism is concerned."

The two presidents exchanged personal gifts.

Nixon had a specially made leather golf bag in the colors of the Mexican flag—red, white and green—and a set of clubs for Diaz Ordaz, who will be leaving office Dec. 1.

Finds Carpenters, Les and Liz, Different But Very Well Suited

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

The Carpenters made our July trip to Hawaii much more interesting than it would have been without them. We don't mean the hammer-and-nail kind of carpenter of the Astronaut Scott type either.

Les and Liz Carpenter are two different but blending personalities that lent additional pleasure to an already delightful experience which we shall henceforth and forevermore refer to as Our Trip.

Liz Carpenter we had expected and even anticipated since it had been announced she was to be the featured speaker at the National B & PW Club Convention in Honolulu. But her husband, Leslie Carpenter, a newspaper correspondent and Hall Syndicate columnist, was a happy surprise we had not counted on.

As a columnist for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin described it, "An interview with Liz Carpenter is a little like trying to discuss the future of major league baseball with the Islanders' manager during the ninth inning of a tied game."

That's because the round-faced, sparkling-eyed lady with short, fluffy white hair (she may call it platinum) is full of nervous energy and is not slowed down by a constantly ringing telephone, a stream of people or a barrage of questions.

Mrs. Carpenter expressed great faith in the durability of the American people in this, "They're not all worried and frantic. They tend to panic at the edges, in San Francisco and New York, but out across the center they're strong on mom and apple pie and virginity before marriage."

On the subject of the Women's Liberation movement, she said, "I think we've made a lot of progress, but we've got a long way to go. We need women on the boards of directors of corporations for one thing." Then, when speaking of garden club ladies who developed an interest in city beautification into an interest in improved city government, she said, "We have 14 women mayors now, and I predict we'll see a whole army of women mayors who are graduates of city beautification programs."

If it is true that opposites attract, no wonder Les and Liz Carpenter became Mr. and Mrs. He is quiet, not very heavy, and he wears sunglasses constantly, even indoors, so perhaps auditorium lights bother him. He is as friendly and helpful in a reserved way as his wife is in her decidedly outgoing manner.

As the principal speaker on a forum about public relations, he spoke clearly, with conviction and without notes. After all, it is a subject with which he has dealt a good many years. He expressed sincere regret that "in today's world the worse the news, the bigger the headlines."

After the convention, Leslie and Liz Carpenter were planning a vacation in the Islands for a month. There was no hint as to where they were going, but if it were up to him, the Coco Palms resort on Kauai with its tranquil beauty was probably their destination. She'd like it, too, especially if she found someone to teach her how to do the hula.

Labor Day Observed in Angry Mood

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said today the nation's workers will observe Labor Day in an angry mood over inflation and recession, and determined to win big wage hikes at the bargaining table.

"The only answer to maldistribution of the wealth American workers help create is to give workers a bigger share of the pie," said the leader of the 13.6 million member union federation in a Labor Day message.

"And, in a single sentence, that's what organized workers are going to be seeking in collective bargaining this year—a bigger share of the pie," Meany said.

The 76-year-old labor chieftain said workers are angry at Nixon administration policies that benefit banks through high interest rates but hurt workers' jobs and income.

"Production is falling. Jobs are vanishing. Soaring prices are pushing the cost of living to record heights. The workers' buying power is dropping steadily," Meany said.

Government figures show living costs still rising at a rate of nearly 6 per cent a year, unemployment at a five-year high of 5 per cent and workers' purchasing power nearly one per cent below a year ago despite wage increases.

Meany, who will be President Nixon's Labor Day dinner guest along with more than 100 other labor leaders, said Nixon's economic policies of high interest, tight money and federal spending cuts had resulted in inflation and recession at the same time.

"The rich and the blue-chip corporations were largely left untouched by the government's tight-money policies. Those who have money to lend are earning record profits," Meany said.

"But the results for America's wage earners, pensioners, the poor and small businessmen have been anything but bright," said the 76-year-old labor chieftain.

Meany also refuted arguments that wage hikes cause

Court Ask to Toss Out White Parents

The Justice Department, which has warned it will tolerate no interference with court-ordered school desegregation, has intervened in an Alabama case in which white parents are accused of virtually taking over three schools.

The Justice Department lawyers asked a U.S. District Court in Birmingham Thursday to order eight parents to halt interference with schools integrating under court orders in Talladega County, Ala.

The parents were ordered to appear at a hearing in Birmingham today before Judge H. Hobart Grooms.

A Justice Department spokesman said he believed it was the first case this year in which the department had been called upon to deal with opposition to court-ordered desegregation.

Involved are schools in the Talladega County communities of Munford, Alpine and Lincoln. The Justice Department contends that about 300 white high school pupils returned to the schools they attended last year in the communities instead of others they were assigned to by desegregation order.

The department says parents are "literally sitting in with their children."

In Norfolk, Va., the school board chairman appealed for public support as the state's third largest city prepared to open its schools today under a desegregation plan calling for massive busing.

"We've got to have public education," said Vincent J. Thomas, whose board presides over a system that includes 56,000 pupils—16,000 of them to be bused to class. That is twice as many pupils as were bused last year.

Bombers Put on FBI Most Wanted List

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Four young men sought in the bombing of a University of Wisconsin research center have been added to the FBI's list of most-wanted fugitives.

While the search was busiest along the Canadian border, Madison officials speculated that the FBI's most-wanted designation would help with extradition if any of the men was found across the border.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police issued a Canada-wide alert Friday night for two of them—David S. Fine, 18, and Leo F. Burt, 22, both former University of Wisconsin students.

The other two—Karlton Armstrong, 22, and his brother, Dwight, 19, both of Madison—apparently slipped through the hands of police at Little Falls, N.Y., about 110 miles from Canada, Thursday night. State police in cars and helicopters searched the area Friday.

The four were named Wednesday in FBI warrants charging conspiracy, sabotage and destruction of government property. The Canadian warrants for Fine and Burt, an RCMP spokesman said, are based on a law which bans from entry into Canada any persons suspected of advocating subversion of democracy.

The explosion Aug. 24 shattered a six-story Army Mathematics Research Center at the university, killing a physics student working in a laboratory.

The FBI said it also wants to question the four young men about an attempted bombing Jan. 1 at an Army ammunition plant in Baraboo northwest of Madison.

Sauk County authorities charged the elder Armstrong brother with unlawful possession of explosives concerning an attempted bombing in February at a power company substation which serves the Baraboo plant.

His teen-age brother, officials said, had done solo flight training in an airplane which was reported stolen shortly before the January attempt, and from which bottles containing nitrate explosives had been dropped on the ordnance plant.

In Little Falls, police said two young men resembling the Armstrongs were taken into custody Thursday night because their car had a faulty exhaust system. Police said they turned the two loose because they did not connect them with the Madison case and before they learned that the car was stolen.

All four youths had been in custody of Sauk County authorities soon after the university bombing. The FBI said the four were seen driving from Madison after the blast, were halted near Baraboo, and were released after chatting with sheriff's deputies for about an hour.

Thinks Soviet Fleet Helps U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it comes to dealing with Congress, asserts one Pentagon official, the American Navy's secret weapon is the Soviet navy.

"It always seems the Russians are steaming off the coast at appropriations time," the official said. "Don't kid yourself, the Russian navy is the American Navy's best friend."

The comment points out the Navy's strategy of plumping Congress for more money to expand and modernize the aging U.S. fleet by raising the spectre of growing Soviet naval strength.

But the Navy's concern over the Soviet warships isn't exactly trumped up. The Soviets have come a long way in a short time.

Intentions of Ky Stun Anti-war Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war organizers reacted today in stunned disbelief to the announcement that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam plans to address a Vietnam victory rally in Washington Oct. 3.

"Wow!," said theology student David Hawk, who helped organize last October's nationwide Vietnam moratorium. "Is that right? Wow! That's really something."

Hawk gathered his thoughts and said, "My first impression is that we should let it happen. I think that would really speak to the American people as to what the goals of the government we are supporting in South Vietnam really are."

The news came as a thunderbolt to activists who had been floundering in attempts to stage a mass demonstration in the nation's capital this fall.

"Oh, you're kidding," said Ron Young, one of the leaders of the coalition that forged last November's massive antiwar demonstrations in Washington and San Francisco. "That's fantastic. That's interesting food for thought."

Young said the development is certain to be discussed Sept. 11 when activists gather in Milwaukee for a strategy conference.

Ky's office in Saigon announced Thursday that the vice president had accepted an invitation extended by fundamentalist radio preacher Dr. Carl McIntire to address a rally sponsored by McIntire's "March for Victory Association."

Rally sponsors say they hope 500,000 persons will gather.

Young shared Hawk's caution as to the wisdom of any counter-demonstration. "For Ky to associate himself with McIntire says not at all for Ky," Young said. "If Ky came at the invitation of the government that would be another thing."

The State Department said the forthcoming Ky trip to Washington will not be an official visit.

A movement personality in Chicago said Ky's visit may well be ignored but he pointed out that hundreds of demonstrators assembled in Washington—without any apparent movement planning or sponsorship—in reaction to Honor America Day last July Fourth.

"If the Honor America Day with some one as relatively moderate as Billy Graham, if people came out for that... Ky and McIntire. That's bizarre. What a double dip."

Hawk noted that the Ky visit will coincide with the release of thousands of college students for work in behalf of peace candidates running for Congress this fall. Not all, he said, would be absorbed in campaign organization. Some might be attracted to Washington.

"I don't want to accuse them (the organizers) of being conspiratorial but I think a confrontation would work to their benefit and certainly against the antiwar candidates. That's a smaller reason, of course, for staying away."

Allocation Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has approved an allocation of $1,483,000 for development of outdoor recreation facilities in Arkansas. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller made the announcement Thursday.

Egypt Says U.S. Far From Truth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt claims the United States is "absolutely far from the truth" in its charge that Cairo has been violating the Middle East cease-fire by setting up anti-aircraft missiles near the Suez Canal.

The Egyptian Foreign Ministry also said Friday that "while the United States succumbed to Israeli pressure, it has taken no action on Egyptian counter-charges of Israeli violations."

In fact, the ministry claimed, the United States itself has violated the military standstill by sending Phantom jet fighters to Israel since the cease-fire went into effect Aug. 7.

Egypt said its foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, had presented the complaints to Donald C. Bergus, Washington's top diplomatic official in Cairo.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram also called the U.S. charges "incorrect." It said the United States had charged that Egypt "violated the cease-fire in 20 specific incidents, including installation of 11 new missiles at launching pads that were empty at the time the cease-fire became effective, establishment of new missile sites that appeared suddenly and movement to the front of rocket artillery battalions."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States had demanded "rectification" by Egypt and the Soviet Union of the alleged cease-fire violations. But he declined to say if this meant an insistence that the missiles be pulled back out of the canal zone.

The United States had already said the Soviet Union and Egypt must stop violating the cease-fire, but Israel has said this is not enough and that the missiles must be removed.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban indicated Friday that Israel was prepared to take military action if necessary to get the rockets out of the area.

He said Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Yosef Tekoah, would not be returning to New York immediately to continue the indirect peace talks opened last week by U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring. The cease-fire violations "prejudice the security of Israel and thus prevent normal negotiation conditions," Eban said.

Pesticide Flurry Has Little Result

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's flurry of action against pesticides has failed to reduce significantly the amount of chemicals polluting the environment, and the ban has ordered aren't likely to be effective for at least a year.

The Agriculture Department over the past 10 months, has announced cancellation or suspension of a number of the registered uses for DDT and two of its close chemical relatives, pesticides containing one form of the poisonous metal mercury, and the herbicide 2,4,5-T, which has been shown to cause defects in animals.

The actions, however, left intact registered uses that account for 75 per cent of domestic applications of DDT, 2,4,5-T. And government officials concede that because of loopholes and poor enforcement, some retail sales of the pesticides (or uses officially banned) will continue until at least next year and perhaps for two more years.

Nevertheless, government health officials say the Agriculture Department has demonstrated a new and unprecedented willingness to act on pesticides that appear to be on the way out.
